

A One Day Conference hosted by the DMU
Academic Professional Development Unit and Teacher Fellows

Fair for all:

Practical Strategies for Equality and Inclusivity

Date: Thursday 11 September 2008
Time: 9.30am – 4.15pm
Venue: De Montfort University, Leicester

Keynote Speakers:

Mick Healey is Professor of Geography and Director of the Centre for Active Learning at the University of Gloucestershire. He is an experienced presenter having given over 300 presentations around the world since 1995. His main research area is in learning and teaching in HE. Mick has led several major government funded projects, and he is Co-Director of an ESRC project on “Enhancing the quality and outcomes of disabled students’ learning in higher education”. He will speak on ‘disability and learning difference’.

Glynis Cousin has recently taken up post at the University of Wolverhampton as Director of the Institute for Learning Enhancement and of the Centre for Excellence in Teaching and Learning (Enabling Achievement within a Diverse Student Body). Glynis has worked on a number of national and international higher education research and evaluation projects and is currently completing a book on higher education research methods. She will speak on internationalisation and cosmopolitan approaches.

There will be a range of workshop topics including:

- Ethnicity and HE
- Assistive Technology
- Mature Students
- Neurodiversity
- Mental Health
- Disability
- Sexual Orientation
- International Students

Please contact nilapatel@dmu.ac.uk to book your place: free to DMU staff.

http://www.dmu.ac.uk/aboutdmu/services/hr/apdu/conferences_and_events/Conferences.jsp

Enrol... Engage... & Enable... all our students