Why study by distance learning?

Increasingly we all face more pressures in our business lives. Finding the time to attend courses of any kind can be very difficult and well-meant plans are often put aside indefinitely. Distance learning is the solution to your training needs:

- Enjoy the full benefits of studying for a recognised UK university postgraduate qualification whilst still in full-time employment
- Take control of where and when you learn and decide the rate at which you study
- Retain industry leading course materials for future reference
- Apply your learning, knowledge, skills and expertise to your work straight away and help to further your career
- Network with tutors and like-minded professionals from around the world

With courses being delivered at different levels, distance learning can meet the needs of a truly diverse student body. High competition for jobs means having additional training and education can be a real advantage, whether you are in the market for a new career or simply want to progress in your existing position.

Who should study this programme?

This programme is designed to offer those working within the legal field; whether as professional practitioners or managers, the opportunity to further develop their understanding and appreciation of 'management' issues. She also lectures on behalf of The European Patent Office and on the Legal Practice course and has been an assessor for The Solicitors Regulation Authority for legal education. Her research interests are the effect of online trading on trade marks. Her teaching specialisms are in intellectual property law, public procurement and technology enhanced learning. Caroline teaches on the Intellectual Property Law module.

Mel Kenny, Professor of Consumer and Commercial Law. Mel's work focuses on the intersection of Private Law, EU Law, Consumer Law and Commercial Law and reflects on these areas from both Comparative and Private International perspectives. In addition, Mel has a research focus in Competition issues and in particular the application of Competition to the State and Public Undertakings. In recent years his publications have explored four highly charged legal topics: the 'Europeanisation' of national private law and the associated calls for consolidation and codification; the comparative assessment of the treatment of surety agreements across Europe; the general issue of ensuring consumer protection and the private international implications of proposals for a Common European Sales Law (CESL). Mel teaches on the Consumer Law module.

Jo McCarthy is Associate & Solicitor at Nelsons, specializing in Employment Law. Jo is a regular speaker and seminar presenter on Employment Law, prepares training programmes for government departments and the voluntary sector and writes on employment law matters for mainstream magazines and professional journals. Jo teaches on the Equal Opportunities in the Workplace and Individual Labour Law modules.

Hiren Mistry is an employed barrister, practising as a commercial litigator in Jersey. He specialises in disputes involving breach of commercial contract, directors' liabilities and breach of trust. Before moving to Jersey, Hiren practised as a barrister in London. He has written several articles in relation to securities regulation and aspects of company and EU competition law. Hiren has been teaching at De Montfort University since 2002, and is module leader for Business Tax and Company Law. Hiren also teaches the Law and Regulation of Electronic Finance and Internet Banking at the University of London. Hiren teaches on the Company Law module.

Andrew Sparks has 12 years experience working in industry in a range of positions related to human resources, organisational development and industrial relations and working with large and small companies in both the public and private sectors. He has also taught at universities for some 12 years, teaching sociology and HRM courses. Andrew completed his PhD at Warwick Business School in 2005. He teaches on a number of undergraduate courses and teaches People Management Within the Workplace and Alternative Dispute Resolution at post-graduate level, as well as supervising undergraduate and postgraduate dissertations. Andrew is also the Academic Head of the Work-Based Learning Unit within the Faculty of Business and Law, and is tutor to a number of students on HRM-related work placements. Andrew teaches on the People Management within Organisations module.

The core DMU team will be joined by external specialist practitioners and guest speakers to provide a varied and highly practice focused Masters Degree Course.

“The standard of teaching is what sets DMU postgraduate courses apart. The team were knowledgeable and passionate about their subjects and that passion was contagious”

DMU MBA Graduate, 2013

Course Syllabus and Structure

The course commences with an optional induction weekend in Leicester which takes place on 19th, 20th and 21st September 2014. The module teaching then begins with a focus on Strategic Management which is the bedrock of MBA study and provides a framework and focus within which to shape the rest of the programme.

This is followed by ‘Managing a Professional Services Organisation’, which considers leadership issues within the context of managing a professional practice, and ‘Law and Ethics’ which sets law within an ethical framework.

These core modules are followed by the opportunity to specialise in 1 option module from a choice of 8 law-related electives. This choice will allow a participant to pursue an area of interest in depth.

The taught modules are completed by a study of ‘Managing Organisational Change’ which is a key feature of organisations operating within today’s volatile environment and ‘Corporate Performance Management’ which considers the process and outcomes of measuring organisational performance via a mix of financial and non-financial metrics.

Students would then complete the programme by finishing a law-related dissertation. The dissertation would have a strong link to academic theory whilst also offering an opportunity to focus on a ‘live’ organisational issue.

Phase 1 – September 2014 to January 2015	Phase 2 – January 2015 to December 2015	Phase 3 – January 2016 to December 2016

The Accelerated Route

Students can undertake to do the course following the Accelerated Route and complete their MBA in 21 months. Students will enrol in September 2014 along with the other students on the programme and study the Strategic Management module until the end of December 2014. Accelerated Route students will then undertake to study all of their remaining modules from January to December 2015. The dissertation would be completed between January and June 2016. This is a very intensive but rewarding route and successful students will graduate with their MBA at the end of 21 months. Accelerated Route students are supported through the allocation of a special director of studies who will provide additional support and advice during their studies.

Weekend Seminars

Students are encouraged to attend a series of optional study days at De Montfort University in Leicester throughout the course. The first study weekend is the Induction Weekend on the 19th-21st September 2014. The weekend will give students the opportunity to meet tutors and fellow students, discuss the course and establish access to tutors during the coming year. The weekend will also provide students with the opportunity to get to know other students who will be studying the same modules. Four further study days are planned throughout the duration of the programme and these will take place in February, May and November.

Distance Learning MBA

Frequently Asked Questions about the Distance Learning Programme with Leicester Business School, De Montfort University

How do I enrol on the course?

Complete the Application Form attached to this brochure and send it to Richard Morgan, Informa Professional Academy (IIR Ltd.), 3rd Floor, Maple House, 149 Tottenham Court Road, London, W1T 7AD, UK Tel: +44 (0)20 7017 4752 together with copies of ALL your relevant certificates and/or transcripts of your academic qualifications, two references, a supporting statement, proof of English language proficiency (if applicable) and a copy of photo ID such as a passport. Alternatively you can scan your application form and all supporting documentation and send it to: richard.morgan@informa.com. You can also apply online at: www.informadl.com/mba-law. Your application is then sent to the Admissions Tutor at De Montfort University for consideration and you will be notified in writing by Informa Professional Academy on the outcome of your application.

What are the standard entry requirements?

To study at postgraduate level you must have one of the following qualifications:

- a degree from a UK university
- a relevant professional qualification
- an equivalent international qualification which indicates an ability to study at postgraduate level

Who do I contact if I have a query about my entry qualifications, programme content or Advanced Standing?

If you have any questions concerning your suitability as a potential student or specific concerns regarding the content of the programme please contact:

Kerry Green, Programme Administrator, Leicester Business School, De Montfort University.

E-mail: kgreen@dmu.ac.uk

Telephone: +44 (0)116 250 6254

How will I access the relevant reading materials?

It is important to realise that the materials provided are not self-contained but point towards the books, articles, cases, statutes and reports which you will need to read. Links are provided via the course website to various on-line legal resources which De Montfort University subscribe to. It is, nonetheless, important to have access to a good library.

What does the course cost?

The total course fee for students enrolling in September 2014 is £8,450 and the fee for the Accelerated Route is £8,850. The fee for the Postgraduate Diploma is £5,500 and the fee for the Postgraduate Certificate is £2,750. Fees include the provision of all course materials, tuition costs, access to relevant on-line resources at Leicester Business School, De Montfort University, the Induction Weekend and four further study days. Please note that travel and accommodation costs are not included in the fees and must be covered by the student. Full payment of course fees is required before the start of the course (i.e. by 18th September 2014) or within 28 days of receipt of your invoice, whichever is sooner.

Do I have to study for the full MBA?

No, you can choose to study for a Postgraduate Certificate (60 credits) or a Postgraduate Diploma (120 credits).

Are you seeking Advanced Standing?

Where you have previously studied taught modules at postgraduate level, it may be possible to exempt you from parts of the Masters qualification and you could obtain the MBA by studying fewer modules at a reduced course fee. For more information, please call +44 (0)20 3377 3209 or visit www.informadl.com/mba-law

What format do the modules take?

The modules come in the form of hard copy print or as PDF documents via the course website. The hard copy modules are bound together and sent out as booklets.

How will I receive my modules?

The hard copy modules will be sent to you by post. It is strongly recommended for ALL students living outside the UK that they opt to receive their materials by air courier. This will ensure the safe and timely delivery of course materials. Failure to choose the air courier option will result in the delayed arrival of your materials. There will be an additional nominal charge of £200 for air courier.

Materials sent by air courier will be delivered to your requested module mailing address between 8.30am and 6.00pm Monday to Friday only and will require a signature. The mailing address you provide must be manned during these hours and you must provide a contact telephone number or email address that you can be reached at between 8.30am and 6.00pm Monday to Friday.

How will my work be assessed?

All modules, whether core or elective, will be assessed by written assignment. These assignments will offer a mix of practical case study based work and a consideration of academic theory. Assessments will vary in quantity, word length and focus from module to module with the aim being to contribute to a coherent assessment strategy across the programme as a whole. Very clear assignment briefs will be posted online, including specific assessment criteria and task information. There will be plenty of opportunity to discuss the requirements of assignment briefs as the modules progress.

How long will I spend studying each module?

People study at different rates, but we estimate that you will need to study around 150 hours per 15 credit module, including time spent on assignments.

Is there any contact time with the course tutors and participants?

Students are encouraged to attend a series of optional study days in Leicester throughout the course. The first study weekend is the Induction on the 19th-21st September 2014. The weekend will give students an opportunity to meet tutors and fellow students, discuss the course and establish access to tutors during the coming year. The weekend will also provide students with the opportunity to get to know other students who will be studying the same modules. Four further study days are planned throughout the duration of the programme and these will take place in February, May and November.

Industry links and professional accreditation

Leicester Business School holds many professional accreditations and boasts recognition from a range of prestigious organisations including ACCA, CIMA, CPA Australia, CIPD, CIM and CMI. Leicester Business School is a member of the Association of Business Schools (ABS) and a member of AACSB International - The Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business. Accreditation by the Solicitors Regulation Authority (SRA) has been applied for.

What is the language on the course?

The course is conducted entirely in English, both verbal and written.

Can I cancel my application?

Cancellations must be received in writing on or before 18th September 2014. You will receive a full refund less an administrative charge of £200. No refunds will be made in respect of cancellations after this date, and the full fee will be payable.
