Diagnostic Radiography BSc (Hons)

Accredited by the Health and Care Professions Council (HCPC), our Diagnostic Radiography course offers practical learning and clinical experience with local healthcare trusts, enabling you to put theory into practice from the first year of the course right through to the final year.

On the following pages you will find lots of useful information and advice to enable you to prepare for your interview to help make the experience as useful and positive as it can be.

Your interview event

University interviews are often a new experience for applicants and we want to ensure that when you apply to De Montfort University (DMU) you are given the most useful information to make the experience an enjoyable one.

Why do we interview?

Interviews are designed not only for us to assess your suitability for the course, but also to make sure you are choosing the right course for you. Universities interview in particular for courses where a specific skill set is required, or where the course leads to a particular profession.

The recruitment process for this course includes assessing applicants by interview for the core values of the NHS constitution. We believe these values to be essential in any individual involved in patient care.

The interview will be used as part of the selection process to determine whether you will be made an offer.

What will happen on the day?

You will receive information ahead of your interview on how to connect with us on Microsoft Teams (MS Teams), and will then be supported through the process by our academics and admissions staff. The day will include a 15 minute individual interview.

Scores will be added together at the end of the interview and are used as a values-based means of recruitment to assess your attitudes, beliefs and academic ability.

Who will be involved in the day?

Academics and professional members of staff.

Interview advice

What can I do to prepare for the interview?

- We strongly advise applicants to undertake a one-day observational visit to an X-ray department. This can be arranged directly with any NHS trust. Please note, this is not a compulsory requirement of the application process, but is advised to ensure you have a first hand understanding of the role of a diagnostic radiographer, before undertaking your training into the profession.
- Before your interview you will be emailed an MS Teams interview invitation. Please accept this and make a note of the date and time.
- We advise that you familiarise yourself with MS Teams before your interview to avoid any last minute panics on the day.
- Think about some basic questions that may be asked at the beginning of an interview and how you might answer them. For example, tutors may ask why you want to study the course, and why you want to study at DMU.
- We advise that you research into the NHS core values and the NHS Constitution.

As Diagnostic Radiography is not a course taught at school/college, you need to be able to demonstrate that you understand what the course/career entails, but you will not be expected to have detailed understanding of technical topics. The discussions will give you the opportunity to demonstrate the skills needed. Some of these skills might be:

- The ability to use information to construct your own opinion
- Willingness and the ability to analyse situations
- Problem solving skills
- Good communication and interpersonal skills

Aside from course specific preparation you may also wish to:

- Organise a practice interview for yourself. Ideally the person interviewing you will be a teacher/careers adviser. If this is not possible it is usually better to use someone who is not a close friend or family member as this will help you to gain experience talking about yourself and your work in an unfamiliar environment.
- Review your personal statement. Think about how you might expand on what you have written if asked to discuss it in more detail.

What happens if I am running late on the day?

We know that delays are sometimes unavoidable, so if you are running late on the day, please contact us on +44 (0) 116 207 8443 as soon as you are able to and let us know. In some instances, if you expect to be significantly late, we may be able to offer an alternative date. However, due to limited dates and popularity of the course, this may not always be possible.

When will I hear if I have been successful?

We aim to make decisions as soon as possible after the interview. In most cases these are communicated to you via email and an update on the UCAS Hub within a week of you attending your interview. We will also be in touch within a week if we are unable to make a decision straight away.

Non-academic requirements

If you are successful after your interview, you will be made an offer, which will be conditional based on you satisfying all academic and non-academic requirements as follows:

- Self-Declaration Form clearance
- Enhanced DBS disclosure clearance
- Occupational Health clearance

You must meet and fulfil all non-academic requirements before 17 August 2026. Failure to meet this deadline may result in your offer being withdrawn.

Due to high demand for this course, once the course is full, offers will be made for the next available cohort.
