

Do you look after a relative,
friend, or neighbour
who is unable to manage on their own?

If the answer is yes, you may be a carer.

Are you a carer?

A carer is someone who looks after someone on an unpaid basis who cannot manage on their own.

This might be because they have a physical or mental illness, a disability, are getting older, have a long term illness or are dependent on drugs or alcohol.

A carer can be any age and you are also a carer if you look after a disabled child. The person you look after does not have to be living in the same house as you. The help you give them could be help with bathing or eating, making sure they are safe, help with cooking, cleaning, shopping or emotional support.

If English is not your first language, please telephone adult social care single point of contact on 0116 454 1004 for assistance.

If you want more information about help and support for carers who live in the city or care for someone who lives in the city, this booklet can help you.

Carers Assessments

If you care for someone for 10 hours a week or more, or if caring has a big impact on your life, then you are entitled to a carers assessment.

Even if the person you look after does not want a community care assessment or help, you still have a right to a carers assessment.

How can a Carers Assessment help me?

A carers assessment is not a test; it looks at how caring affects your life.

The carers assessment looks at whether you are willing and able to care, your health and well-being and whether you want to work, have training, or want some time to do something that you enjoy.

For a carers assessment contact your social worker or adult social care on 0116 454 1004. They can also provide you with a carers assessment checklist, which can help you prepare for your carers assessment.

Young Carers

You can also get help and advice if you are a young person under 18 who looks after a family member because they have a disability, long term illness, mental illness or problems with drugs and alcohol.

If you or someone you know is a young carer, please call Social Care and Health on 0116 454 1004.

Flexible working for Carers

If you are a carer who is also in a paid job, you have the right to request flexible working arrangements.

You can ask for things like flexible start and finish times, or compressed hours – where you work longer on some days to have more free time on others.

This right comes from the Work and Families Act 2006. Your employer can only refuse your request if there is a strong business reason for the refusal.

Carers Personal Budget

Following a carers assessment, you may be eligible for a carers personal budget.

Eligible carers will receive a one-off payment by cheque depending on their needs.

You can get more information about carers budgets from your social worker, or by calling adult social care on 0116 454 1004.

Advice About Benefits

If you think that you may be entitled to benefits, make sure you don't lose out – call Welfare Rights for advice on benefits: 0116 454 5570 (Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday between 1pm and 4pm).

Alternatively, you can email welfarerights@leicester.gov.uk for general information on Welfare Benefits.

Does your GP know you are a carer?

As soon as you start caring or if you already are caring for someone, let your GP know. It can be recorded on your medical notes. If they know you are a carer this will help them to offer you the advice and support you need.

Some carers may also qualify for an annual flu vaccination / jab. Your GP may be able to help you as a carer with information and advice such as:

- Medical conditions of and treatments for the person you care for
- Services you can get from the NHS e.g. continence services
- Other places where you can get help and advice
- Home visits to you or the person you care for if you can't get to the surgery
- Arranging appointments for both you and the person you care for at the same time.
- Arranging for repeat prescriptions to be delivered to your local pharmacy

Hospital discharge checklist for carers

Here is a list of things that should happen if someone you are caring for is being discharged from hospital:

- If the person you care for needs on-going support on discharge, you should be asked if you are willing and able to care for them, how much help you can give and how often.
- You and the patient should be given both spoken and written information about future treatment and care, including relevant contact details
- You should be told who the key person is to talk to about discharge plans
- If the patient does not want you to be involved or have information about their care, you will be told where you can go for carer support.
- Information should be made available to you about how you can complain if you are unhappy about the services you or the person you care for receives.
- An assessment for NHS continuing care should be carried out when necessary and you should be kept informed about this.
- You and the patient should be consulted about whether or not to involve social services.
